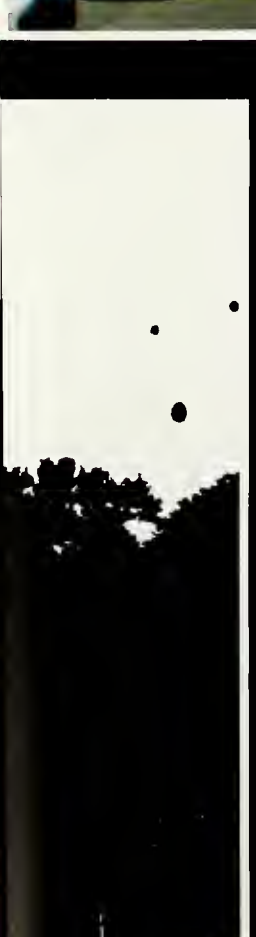
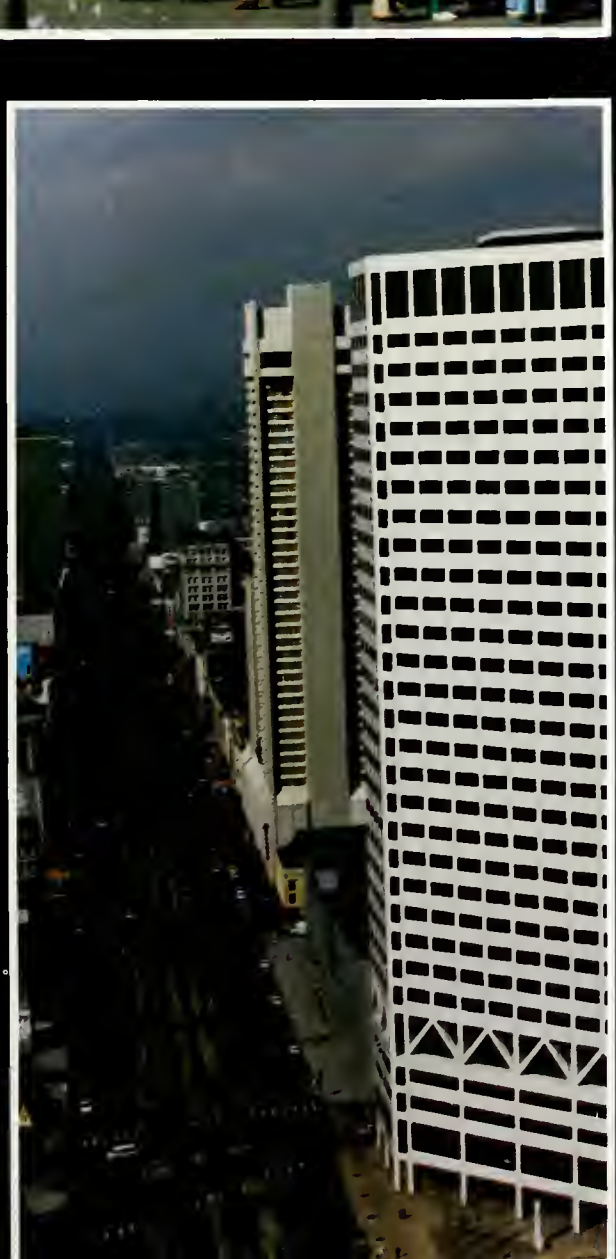
GRAY LINE SIGHTSEEING TOURS

TRADITION:
Big, shady trees, magnolia blossoms and their fragrance huge plantation homes on the very land where they were originally built and have stood for years.





The "city that care forgot" will never be forgotten by anyone who has experienced the magic that alone is New Orleans. Natives as well as visitors are easily enveloped in the sights and sounds of this enchanted city. Music, food, customs, and architecture all contribute to New Orleans' uniqueness. The city's heritage is unlike any other in the world.

Famous for the Mardi Gras celebration, New Orleans is a city where partying is essential to living. It doesn't take long to see that not only do people here like to party, they do it very well.

The French Quarter is constantly alive with with people eating, drinking, and dancing in the streets.

New Orleans has a culture all its own, and it is this which has earned the city a place in the hearts and minds of many.

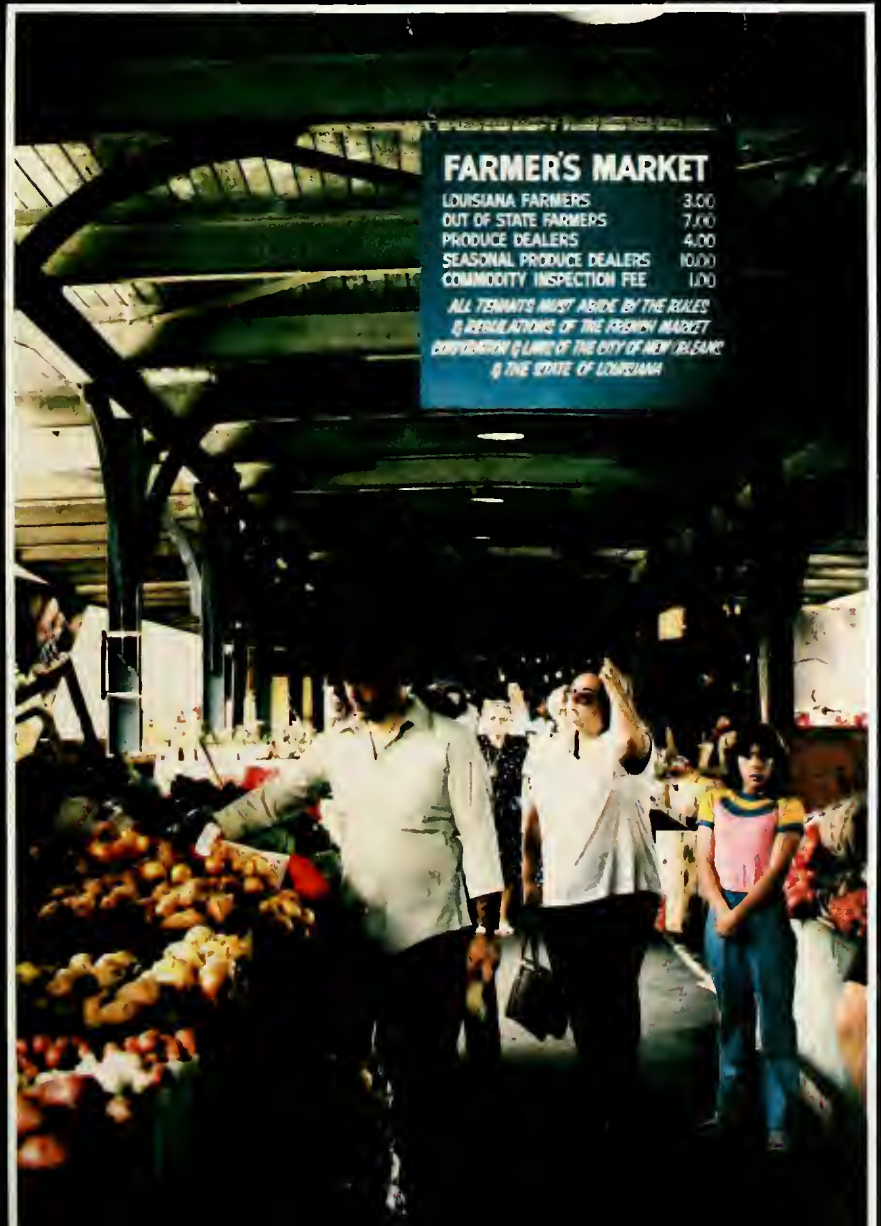
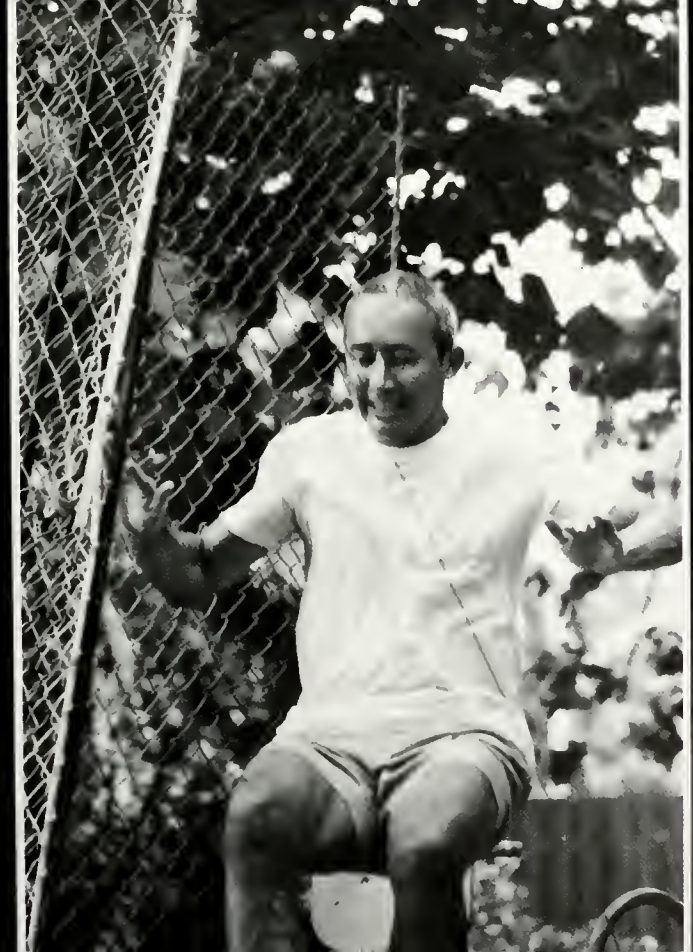
TRADITION:
Street car rides downtown, steamboat and paddleboat rides up-river, free lance artists and street musicians, beignets and cafe au lait.



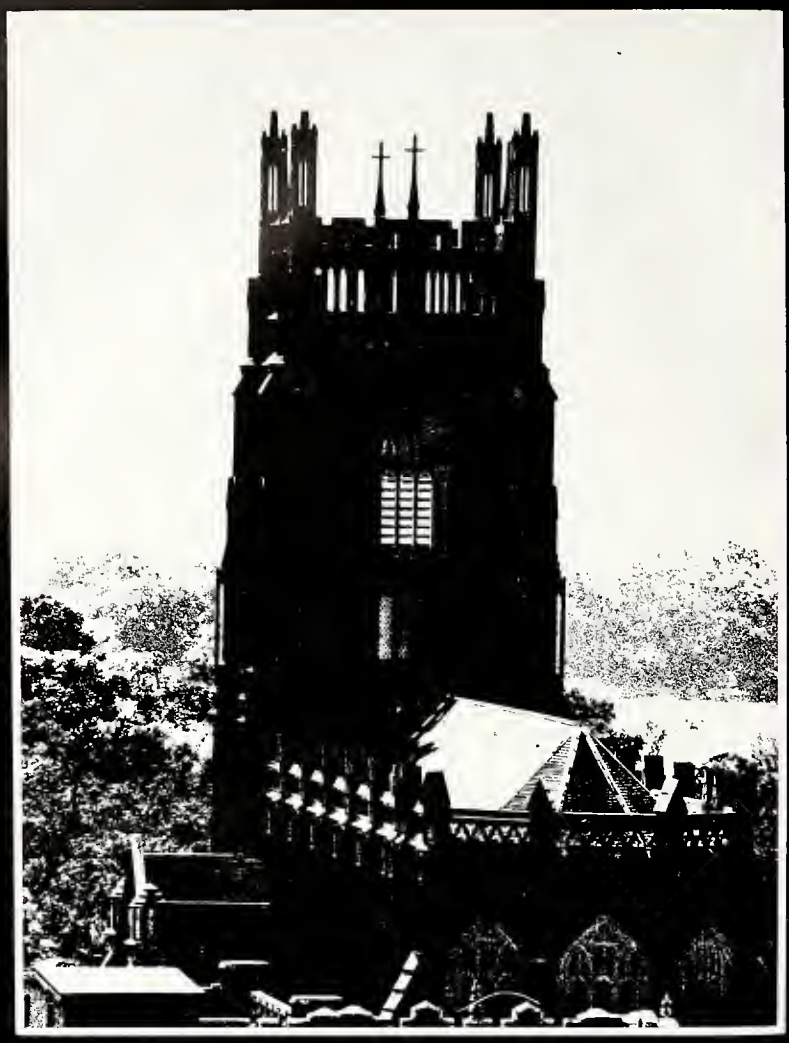


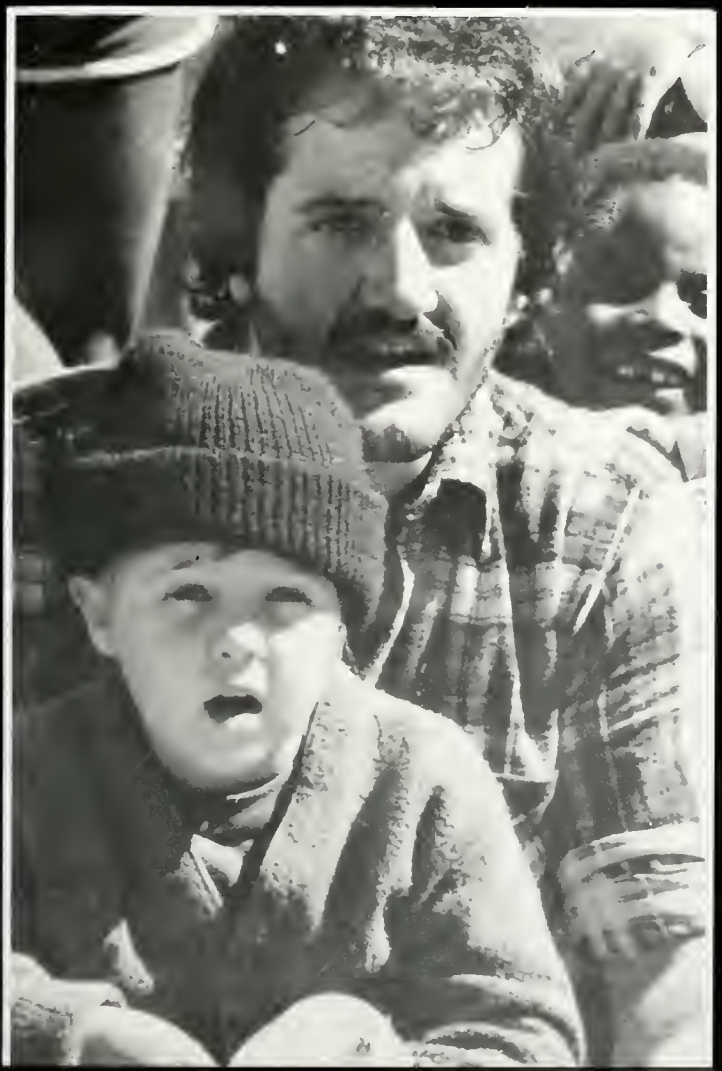
Loyola University of the South is a tradition that was begun sixty-nine years ago by a community of Jesuit priests. Their main interest was in providing a liberal arts education and in delivering this through a broadening curriculum for undergraduate study.

Loyola's campus is situated in uptown New Orleans. Its buildings for administration and classrooms include old wartime barracks and a modern science complex. The Rec Center provides all-purpose courts and equipment for serious exercise or just plain fun. Two dormitories house out of town students, helping them to become acquainted with the school and city.

Loyola offers its students a wide choice of programs which aid in their choice of a career, and in persuing that career. Loyola is interested in educating the whole person; body, mind and soul. Enrollment of under five thousand is advantageous in making each student feel an important and intrinsic part of the Loyola community.

TRADITION:
Shiny doubloons and colorful beads, parades on St. Charles Avenue, red beans and rice, crawfish and oysters, friendly people and Southern hospitality.





The Loyola student's education is a product of the city and the University combined. New Orleans can offer students an education that can not be acquired through books alone. Knowledge gained and friendships made are each a part of the college years. The years spent at Loyola are years that can affect, inspire, and influence a person for the rest of their life.

TRADITION:
A desire to learn, an experience to share, an opportunity to grow.

Loyola:
Animated
Happiness

Someone once theorized that man is a social animal

Probably the easiest place to prove this hypothesis would have been Loyola's campus.

A walk through Loyola's Danna Center would provide him with invaluable evidence for his theory. Dental hygiene and med-techs sipping softdrinks together; fraternity brothers having a "rap" in Hardee's; students "getting-down" at the weekly TGIF's.

Brotherhood: Richer Life

Greek fraternities and sororities offer different philosophies of life on Loyola's campus, yet each has as its basic goal the social and academic improvement of its members and at the same time the betterment of the university.

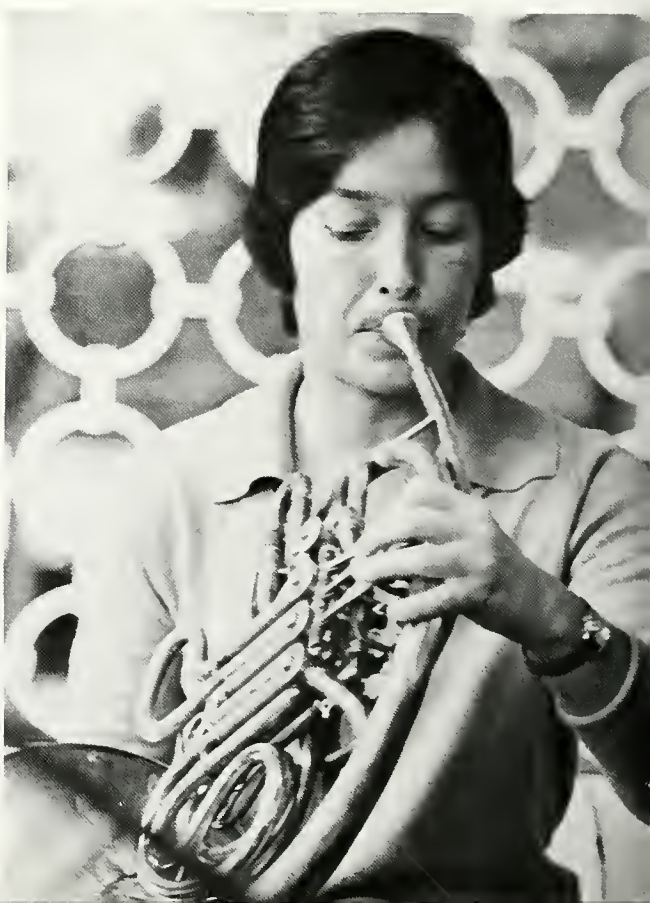
Fraternities and sororities from Alpha to Omega offer their members a fuller life through brotherhood or sisterhood, and most Greeks find in their respective organizations those intangibles which are hard to discern from the outside and equally hard to express from the inside.

Loyola: Beyond the Routine

It's highly improbably that any Loyolan suffered from boredom this year, because, as in the past, extra-curricular activities were easily found on the campus.

The Loyola Union provided a variety of entertainment for the students; and, for those more intellectually designed, the FBI provided numerable films and, different academic departments provided numerable lectures for all to attend.

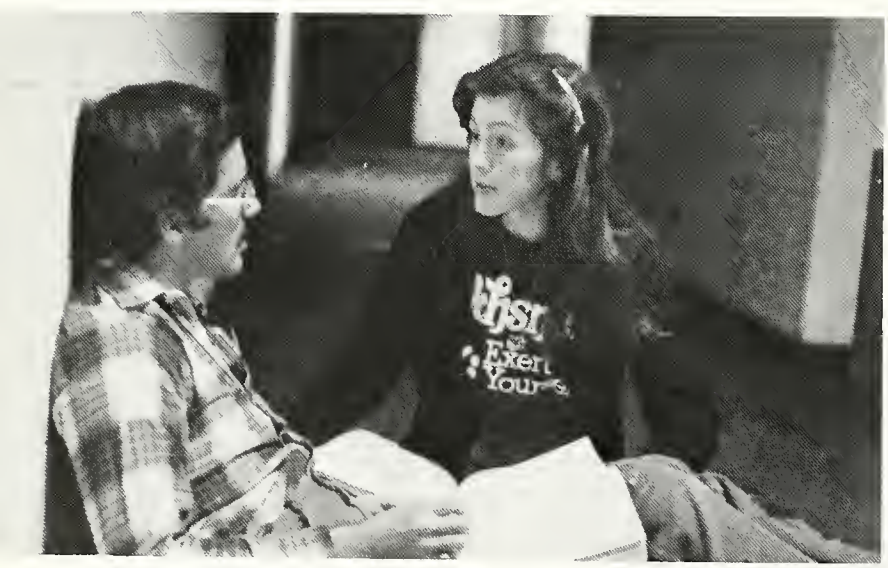
Politics played an important role this year, with students debating campus issues and discussing national policy.

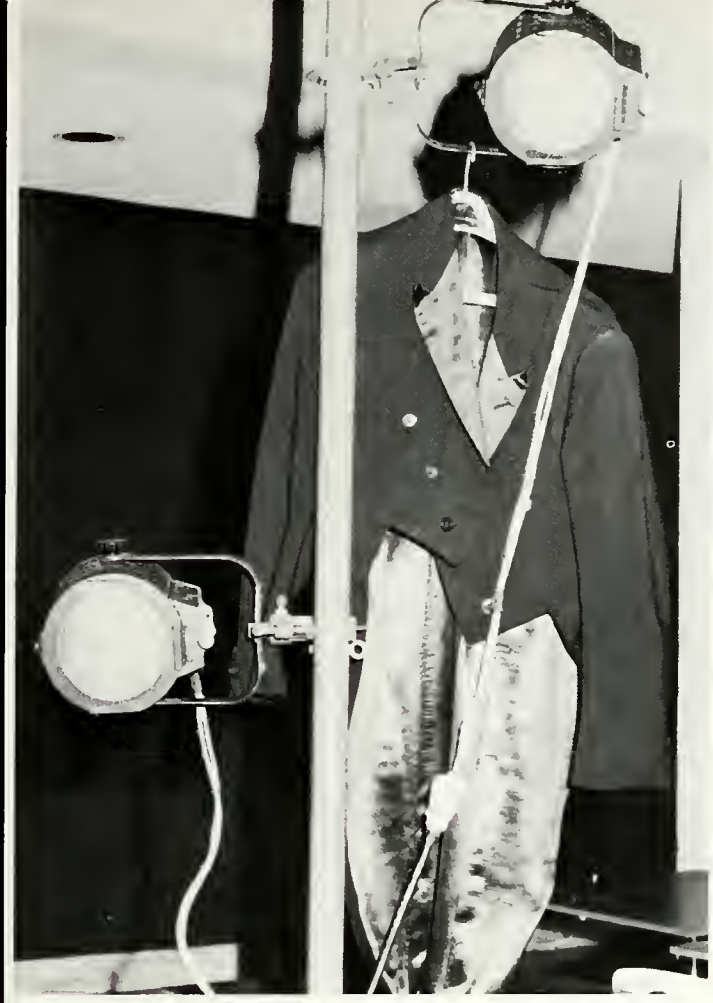


Outside of campus, students were elated with the return of Mardi Gras to the streets of Orleans Parish, as Mardi Gras was cancelled last year in New Orleans.

Home Away From Home -

To the many students of Loyola who live in Tampa, St. Louis or Houston during the summer, "home" during the school year is no longer, as Robert Frost insisted, "the place where, when you go there, they have to take you in." It is, instead, Biever and Budding Halls.





Home is modern, well-equipped, usually noisy, located in an exclusive high-rent district, sometimes pleasant, sexually segregated, and, above all, away from home.

Sports:
An intramural part of Loyola

Loyola has always realized the importance of physical culture and fitness in the development of the full person. The tradition of sportsmanship has been firmly entrenched for years.

The university's intramural program crams the student-athlete's year with volleyball, tennis, weight-lifting, aerobics and basketball. Thus, each Loyolan has ample opportunities to experience "the win" and "the loss."

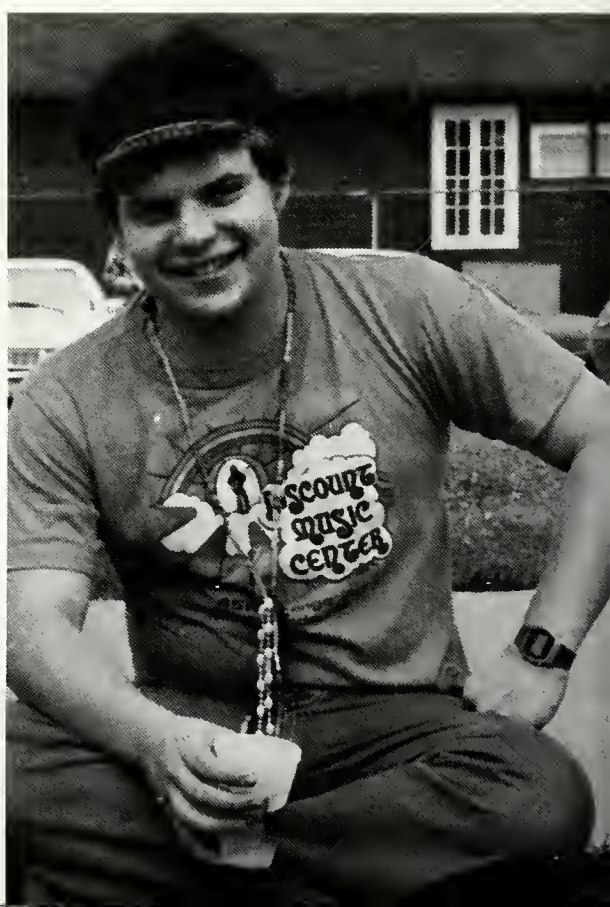
Spirit:
Getting Involved

Spirit comes from the roots of the student's soul and is expressed by his participation in various functions of the university.

Demonstrations of spirit are evident by use of the Rec Center, the interest in social activities provided and the overall enthusiasm generated by all. Spirit is intangible yet the evidence of its presence is everywhere on Loyola's campus.

I Am Loyola

I am a participator-I do more than just belong.



I am a helper-

I do more than just care

I am a friend

I do more than be friendly

I am a worker,

I do more than dream

I am a server —

I do more than give

I am an enricher,

I will do more than earn.

I am an inspirer,

I do more than teach

WHO BE SO NICE

I am the Danna Center.

I am the S.G.A., the meetings, the hussle of it all.

I am the long
registration lines,
the confusing course
numbers.

I am common curriculum.

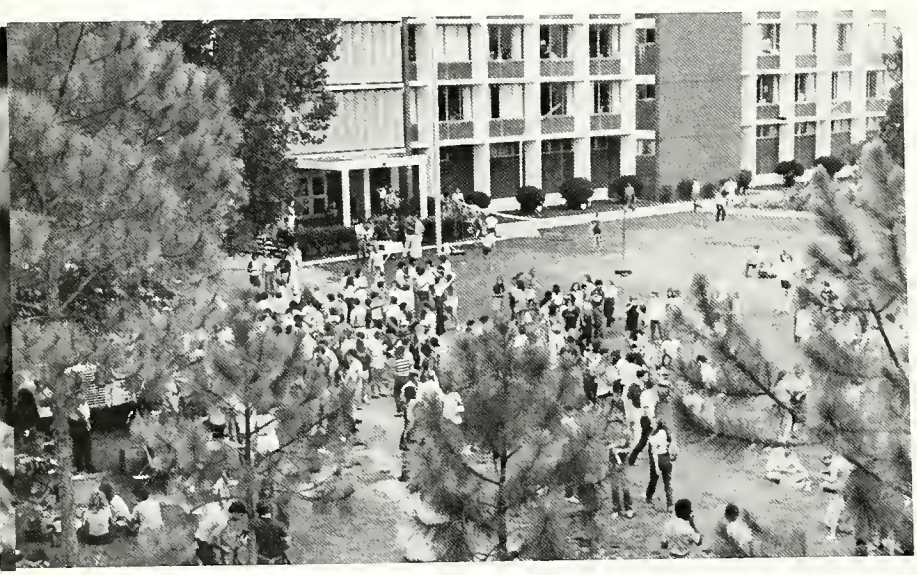
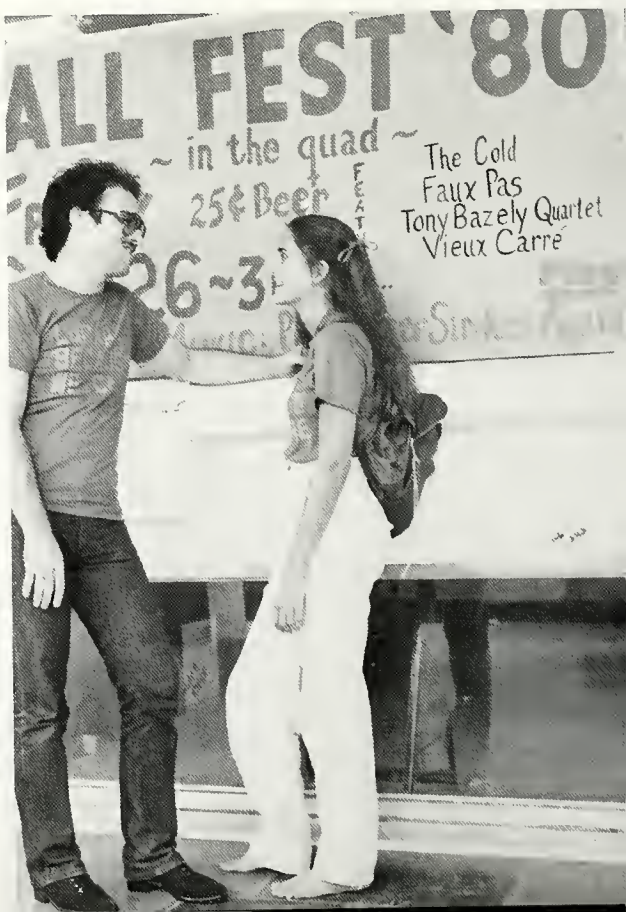
I am Biever and Budding Halls. I am Bobet Hall, Stallings Hall, Marquette Hall and Gaudin Hall.

I have spent many a sleepless night in the library.





I am the full parking places, the endless line of automobiles adorning Calhoun and St. Charles Avenues.

I come in all colors: black, white, brown and yellow.

I come from St. Louis, Tampa, Houston, New Orleans and many others.

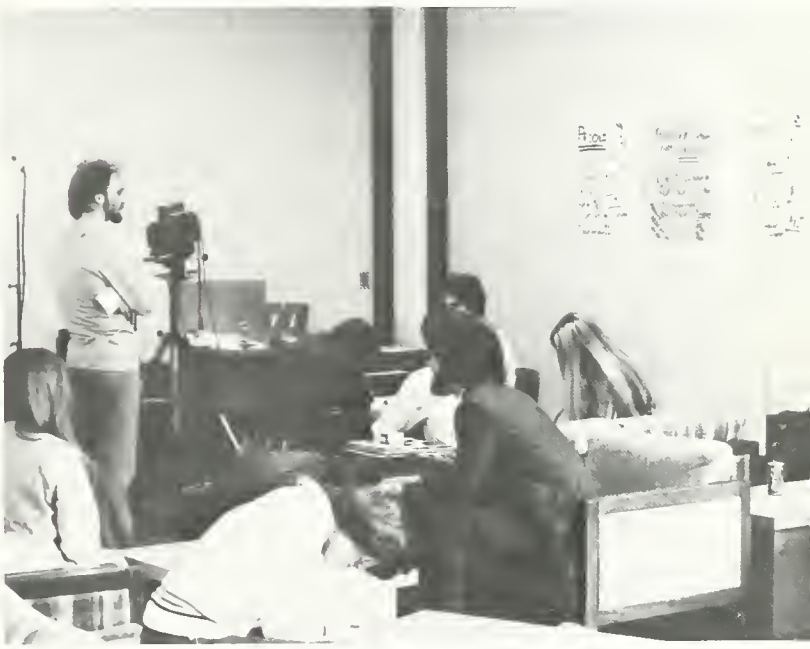
I speak English. Je parle francais. Yo hablo espanol. Ich sprechu deutsch.

I am fat and I am skinny. I have all colors of hair and eyes.

I dress moderate and
I dress preppy.

Usually, I am preppy.

I am aware of my fellow man's needs.



Also, at the same time, I look for ways to befriend him.

I was born in 1904 on the site of the old Foucher Plantation, and I have educated many a scholar since.

I am the Jesuits, the founding fathers of Loyola University.

I am Mardi Gras, Audubon Park and the St. Charles Ave streetcar.

I am a community of people who share the desire to explore the realms of wisdom, knowledge, and truth.

I am Arts and Sciences, Business Administration, Music and City College.

I am Hardee's, Dr. Banana's, the Orleans Room, the Vittler and the Pub.

I am more than just mortar and bricks, more than just homework, exams and grades. I am greater than these because I am a group of people who dared to be different.

Yes, I am Loyola University, and these are a few of the many things that I am. I was conceived in a Jesuit concept and will seek continued success.

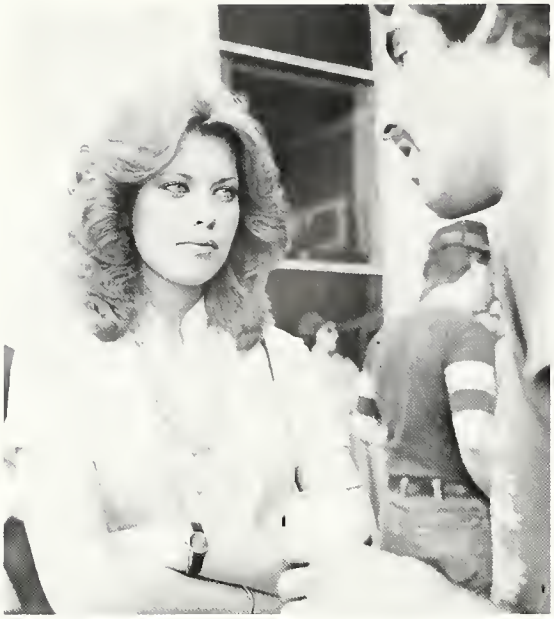
So brief a time we have to stay

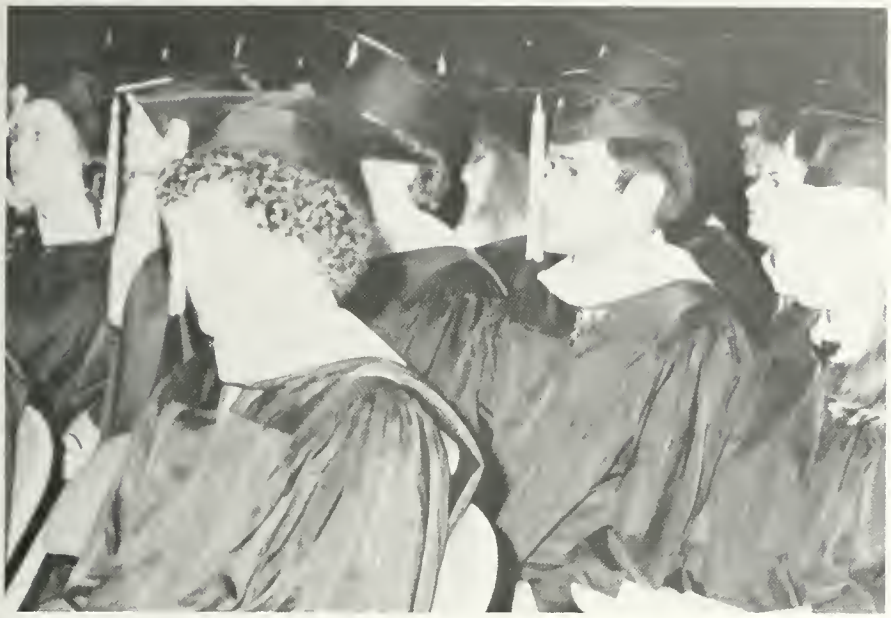
Along this dear, familiar way

It seems to me we should be kind

To those whose lives touch yours and mine.



The hands that serve us every day



Should we not help them while we may?

They are so kind that none can guess

How soon they'll cease our lives to bless

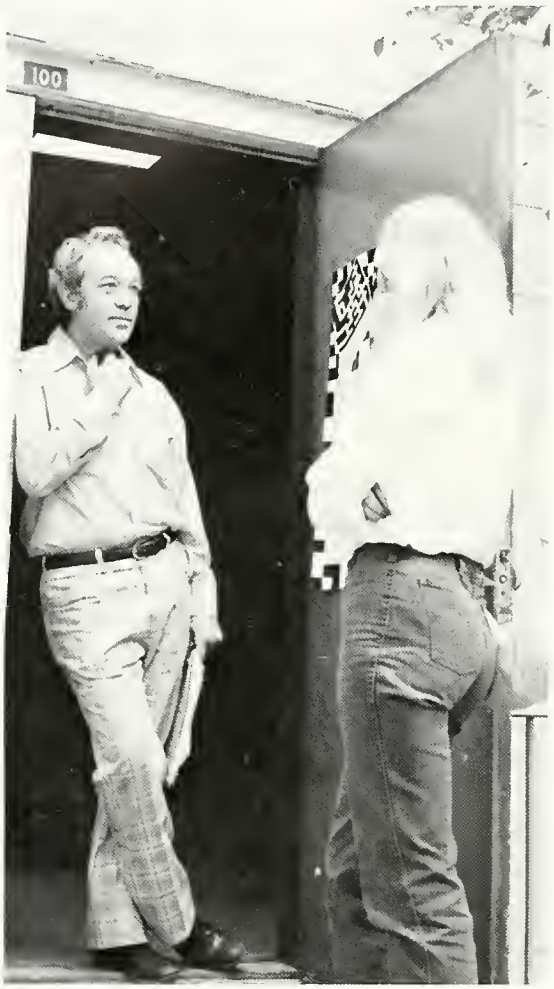
The hearts that love us, who may know

How soon the long, long way must go.

Then might we not their faults forgive



And make them happy while they live?

So many faults in life there are

We need not go to seek them far;

But time is short and you and I

Might let the little faults go by

And seek for what is true and fine

In those whose lives touch
yours and mine
